Redistricting in HENRY COUNTY, VA

Aligning Magisterial Districts with the 2020 Census

WHAT IS REDISTRICTING?

Redistricting is the way we change the districts that determine who represents us.

Every member of the U.S. House of Representatives, most of our state legislators, and many of our local legislators in towns and counties are elected from districts. These districts divide states and the people who live there into geographical territories.

WHY REDISTRICT?

Article VII, Section 5 of the Virginia Constitution requires that every 10 years following the release of the decennial census, a reapportionment of the magisterial districts take place. The purpose of this process is to balance the represented population of each district to within 5% of the median.

Ridgeway District	8,538	0.55%

TWO DISTRICTS FALL OUTSIDE OF THE 5% THRESHOLD: BLACKBERRY AND COLLINSVILLE.

GETTING DISTRICTS WITHIN 5%

- We had to find a way to increase the population of the Blackberry District and lower the population of the Collinsville District.
- Problem: The two districts don't touch.
- This meant we had to adjust other districts to compensate.
- Only the Iriswood District remained unchanged.

HOW WE MADE ADJUSTMENTS

- Drew lines that would not change any polling locations.
- Made an effort to ensure changes in boundary lines corresponded with existing physical barriers such as roads, rivers or railways.
